

A better way to manage IV connections

Every day, millions of patients across North America receive intravenous therapy, and nurses are required to disconnect these IV lines regularly during their care. 15% of these IV connections are difficult to disconnect, and nurses have no effective solution to this problem ... until now.

Introducing Yewtwist, a unique tool designed to quickly, safely and efficiently disconnect any IV connection.

FEATURES:

- 3 distinct jaw sizes to accommodate a wide range of IV connections
- rubber jaws provide grip and torque without damaging the IV line
- designed to provide additional grip strength

- Save time
- Improve efficiency
- Provide better, safer patient care

DESIGNED BY AN ONCOLOGY NURSE

Maria Plummer, RN, CVAA(c), CON(c)

Maria is a registered nurse with extensive experience in pediatric and adult oncology. Having cared for thousands of patients herself, and witnessing colleagues encounter difficulties with IV lines, she understands the pain point. Maria designed Yewtwist to help colleagues who work with IV connections, as well as patients at home who are responsible for their own IV lines.
